TEACHERS HEAR TALK GIVEN BY THE HEAD OF STATE SCHOOLS

Dr. Frank B. Haas Points Out The Responsibilities of The School Teachers Today

OTHER TALKS GIVEN

Head of County School Directors Speaks on Unfairness of Tenure Act

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 10.—"The job for the teachers in Pennsylvania is very large since it carries with it responsibilities in two definite directions," said Dr. Frank B. Haas, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, when he addressed at least 700 teachers from all sections of Bucks County in the Court House, here, Wednesday afternoon.

Declaring that the inevitable sabotage which is yet to come will be so streamlined it will make that of the First World War seem gauche, informed Dr. Haas, speaking on "National Defense and Education."

"The first responsibility is that the basis and background of national defense must be that the regular system of education must be maintained, and

Church Choir Welcomes Three New Members

The choir of the First Baptist Church held its first meeting of the season on Wednesday evening in the social room of the church with 23 members present.

Three new members were welcomed into the organization, namely the Rev. and Mrs. Willis H. Bolte as honorary members, and Nelson Thompson, as a regular member.

A social time followed the business meeting with the group seated at the table which was attractive in decorations of autumn shades. A wool blanket, a wedding gift from the choir was presented to Mrs. Nelson Thompson.

Refreshments concluded the enjoyment of the evening, they being served by the hostesses, Mrs. Roy Tracy, Miss Winifred V. Tracy and Miss Ray Vandegrift.

Monologue Sequence, "It's Curtain Time," Is Enjoyed

LANGHORNE, Oct. 10.—Nearly 250 enjoyed the monologue sequence, "It's Curtain Time," presented last evening by Cornelia Stabler in the Friends Meeting House, here.

Miss Stabler, a most capable actress and reader, and outstanding for her work as a "one-woman theatre," delighted with the numerous characters she presented.

The affair was a benefit for the Friends Service Committee. Refreshments followed the performance.

Standard Oil Buys Morrisville Property

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 10.—An interesting real estate sale was consummated this week when the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania purchased from Estella C. Lacey, Howard H. Lacey, of Morrisville; Edna M. White, of Morrisville, and the Bristol Trust Company, of Bristol, Pa., the large property on Bridge street, near Washington street.

The property consists of a modern gasoline station on a tract of ground having a frontage of 319 feet on the south side of East Bridge street, with varying depths.

The property was held by the owners at $35,000. The negotiations resulting in the sale were carried on for both the buyer and seller by Charles N. Schragger, president of Charles N. Schragger, Inc., realtors, of Trenton, N. J.

TELLS OF STRIDES MADE IN DENTISTRY RECENTLY

L. B. Vernon States That Less Attention Is Paid to Teeth Than Rest of Body

ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Lester B. Vernon, of the Vernon Benchoff Co., Pittsburgh, was the guest speaker before the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon when he talked on "Teeth and the Manufacture of Dental Supplies."

Mr. Vernon stated that since the beginning of man there has always been trouble with the teeth, but it has not been until the last 100 years, in fact the last 25 years, that dentistry has made more progress than in the time preceding.

"Teeth do not give out any faster than other parts of the body, but less attention is given to them than to other parts of the body," the speaker declared.

Mr. Vernon, in stating that dentistry is a young science, informed that "as a separate science dentistry is only 100 years old, and by far the greater part of its important progress has been during this present century. In fact, more progress has been made in the last 30 years than in all the years and centuries prior put together."

It may be that some vitamin will be discovered or the functioning of some gland corrected which will tend to develop sound, healthy, correctly spaced teeth which will resist the ravages of caries and last out the normal life span. But until then about the best answer that dental science is able to give is this: Teeth are not essentially more defective than any other part of the body, but it happens that due to the peculiar functions of the mouth they require more care than any other parts and, as a rule, they get the least. If that is true we can have healthier and better teeth only through a more widely diffused knowledge of what constitutes the necessary care of our mouths, or in other words, a care at least equal to that which we bestow, consciously or unconsciously, on other parts of the body, which dentists say today is far from being the rule."

Mr. Vernon gave the history of dentistry, covering the period when tamped-in gold fillings were used, these being thought by many to have been the best fillings ever made. He also told of use of cast inlays; and gave information on use of copper and silver in use with gold for hardening purposes for fillings. Rubber dentures, and the use of celluloid were told of likewise, then synthetic plastics.

Birthdays were celebrated for Miss Mazzanti and Miss Niccol.

Mrs. Joseph Missera, Beaver street, arranged a surprise party for her sister, Miss Tillie Niccol, Wood street, on the occasion of the latter's 25th birthday anniversary. The affair took place at the Missera home, 894 Beaver street, last evening.

Decorations were in keeping with the Halloween season, and a buffet lunch was served to the following: The Misses Lucy Embiscuso, Angeline DeBlassio, Rose Baiocchi, Helen Bocardi, Nancy DiNunzio; and Mrs. Howard Friel. The guest of honor received many gifts.

Attendants-To-Be Arrange Affair for Miss Mazzanti

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Mabel Mazzanti, Lincoln avenue, on Tuesday evening, by her attendants-to-be, the Misses Lilly Cagnetti, Emma Mazzanti, Emma Dixon, Cesare, Dora Cordetti, Bristol; and Molly Inverso, Trenton, N. J.

The party was held at the Di Cesare home. Decorations were in pink and blue; and a large umbrella in same colors was suspended, with the gifts underneath. A buffet supper was served to 50 guests from Trenton and Bristol.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A birthday dinner in honor of Mrs. Mary Keating, Wilson avenue, was served at the Keystone Hotel on Wednesday evening. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Michael Keating, Corson street; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dixon, Radcliffe street; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Heilman, Wilson avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Keating, Norristown; Mr. and Mr. Alfred Darrah, Andalusia.

RAINFALL IS WELCOMED THROUGHOUT THE STATE

.24 Inches Chalked at Local Observatory for Period Ending 8 A. M. Today

MUCH RAIN IS NEEDED

The .24 inches of rainfall listed for the 24 hour period ending at eight o'clock this morning was welcomed by the parched earth and the thousands of this area who have been concerned over shortage of water for more than a month.

Falling in a steady drizzle, the rain which started during the night, ended a 44-day drought described as the worst dry spell in Southeastern Pennsylvania in many decades.

Previous to today's rainfall, checked at .24 inches at the Rohm & Haas weather observatory here, there had been but slight rain since August 26th. On the 11th of September the rainfall was .039 inches, and on October 3rd, the fall was .07 inches. There were traces of rain on two days recently.

Thus, the rainfall since August 26th in this immediate area has been but .349 of an inch, while some other sections of the country have not had that amount.

The fall during the night came as farmers throughout the area abandoned hopes of normal crops because of the drought, resigning themselves to losses totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars. Records showed the steady downpour.

The light rains which swept over Pennsylvania today ended a 45-day drought for the state, that parched farm lands and endangered the State's water resources.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Harrisburg said the rain was general throughout Pennsylvania, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Officials pointed out, however, that considerable rain must fall to replenish water supplies, especially in the southeast section of the state where the threatened water shortage prompted city officials to ask the Commonwealth's topographical and geologic survey to make measures immediately to remedy the situation.

Communities in Lebanon and Berks County have appealed for aid, pointing out that their supplies are seriously threatened and asked state engineers to survey the need of drilling wells.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Sale of poultry this week at the Rice Brothers Sale near Solebury was low due to decreased offerings. The returns approximated $900 less than at the sale two weeks previous, the amount received this week being $1861.79.

Approximately 1700 persons attended the sale, total proceeds of which were $2983.41. The top price received for the poultry was $1.25 each or 26 cents a pound for barred rock pullets.

The sale of livestock was characterized as rather dull. Of the seven cows offered, only two were sold. They brought $55 and $95. Ten heifers were also offered, but not one was sold. It was impossible also to dispose of six

TWO YOUTHS HELD FOR JUVENILE COURT

Accused by Police of Taking Three Autos From Garages Here

NOW IN PARENTS' CARE

Two youths were released last night in the custody of their parents after being ordered to appear at a session of juvenile court. The two boys, Anthony Tranotti, 16, Dorrance street, and Joseph Stalone, 16, Chestnut street, are accused of taking the automobile of William Lupkin and two automobiles of Cultura Brothers, from garages.

The boys were given a hearing before Justice of Peace Edward Lynn, in the Municipal Building, here, and when asked to testify, told Justice Lynn that they wanted to "take a ride."

The automobiles of Lupkin and the two trucks of Cultura Brothers were removed from their respective garages either late Monday night or early Tuesday morning. The police were notified at the time and went to the scene and found all three cars out in the alleyway between Dorrance and Washington streets.

Yesterday the two boys were taken into custody and brought before Justice Lynn.

"Come As You Are" Party Conducted By Junior Club

A "Come As You Are" party, conducted last evening by the Junior Travel Club, proved to be a thoroughly enjoyable affair.

The club members went to the meeting and party attired in garments they were wearing when messengers had arrived at their homes to invite them to the affair. Some were attired in street dresses, some wore aprons, and others were garbed in house coats.

Members of the philanthropic committee were in charge, this committee including Mrs. Thomas Coles, Mrs. Horace Royer, Mrs. Edward Kupiec, Mrs. Clifford Gilpin, Mrs. Rudolph Roeger, and Miss May Barrett. The social committee named for the evening included Miss Ruth Blanche, Mrs. Robert Brooks, Miss Berenice Bruner and Mrs. Robert Wright.

Mrs. Joseph C. McCarron was the presiding officer, there being approximately 35 in attendance.

The members discussed plans for a Christmas dance, and announcement was made that on October 15th a county get-together will take place at Newtown.

Refreshments were served.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

All Set For The Spiral

Washington, Oct. 9. FOR a long time some of the closest observers of national affairs have been convinced that as good an idea of the Administration direction can be had through careful attention to the written and spoken words of Mrs. Roosevelt as in any other way. Vague as her utterances sometimes are, nevertheless, White House purposes are occasionally revealed by her quite a while before they are publicly proclaimed.

THERE is rather sound foundation for the belief that, generally, she not only knows what her husband's attitude is going to be, but, despite her modest and deprecatory manner, not infrequently has considerable to do with the shaping of that attitude. For these reasons the conclusion has been reached by the discerning that, notwithstanding the feeling of various Administration officials, and the almost unanimous view of detached economists, that some regulation of wages is essential if the price structure is not to reach a dangerous level, there will be no regulation, because the effort will have no Presidential support.

IN addition there is a very strong conviction that, though the defense strikes continue week after week, with resulting loss of millions of man hours on army and navy contracts, the White House will neither sanction nor support any form of compulsory arbitration legislation. Nor will it take—or permit to be taken—any firm step to put an end to the calculated delays which are part of the labor leaders campaign to use the present crisis to rivet the closed shop upon the industry of the country. In brief, there will be no stiffening of Administration attitude toward labor and the National Mediation Board will continue its cus-

Frederick Mohr, Sr., Dies At His West Bristol Home

Frederick Mohr, Sr., husband of the late Sarah E. Twist Mohr, died at his home on Third avenue, West Bristol, yesterday, in his 78th year.

Mr. Mohr, one of the oldest members of Newport Road Community Chapel, was a trustee of the chapel. He had made his home here for the past 18 years, coming to this community from Philadelphia. His wife passed away 13 years ago.

Four sons survive him, namely, Edward and George Mohr, of West Bristol; and Frank and Frederick Mohr, Jr., Philadelphia.

The funeral will be held on Monday, with service at the late home of the deceased at two o'clock, with the Rev. R. C. Cotter, pastor of Newport Road Chapel, officiating. Burial will be made in Greenwood Cemetery, Philadelphia, with Robert C. Ruchl, funeral director, in charge. Friends may call Sunday evening.

ENUMERATION HERE IS LESS THAN LAST TERM

Total of 2,497 Boys and Girls Listed in Bristol Borough This Year

DROP OF 24 IS NOTED

There are in Bristol borough a total of 2,497 children of school age, six to 17 years, according to the records of the enumerator.

This total is divided quite evenly, 1,250 boys, and 1,247 girls.

The largest number of children of school age is located in the sixth ward, a total of 591, and the smallest number in the third ward, 275.

Those signifying their intention of attending public schools here, are listed separately from those who stated they would attend parochial or private schools.

The number of public school children are here listed according to wards: First ward, 126 boys, 116 girls, total 236; second ward, 95 boys, 80 girls, total 175; third ward, 113 boys, 117 girls, total 230; fourth ward, 179 boys, 155 girls, total 334; fifth ward, 131 boys, 130 girls, total 261; sixth ward, 263 boys, 268 girls, total 531.

The group which signified intention of attending parochial or private schools was as follows: First ward, 36 boys, 39 girls, total 75; second ward, 62 boys, 74 girls, total 136; third ward, 25 boys, 20 girls, total 45; fourth ward, 83 boys, 97 girls, total 180; fifth ward, 112 boys, 122 girls, total 234; sixth ward, 25 boys, 35 girls, total 60.

The enumerator's record shows a decrease in number of children of school age in Bristol borough as compared to the enumeration of a year ago. Last year's enumeration showed a total of 1,230 girls and 1,291 boys, making a total of 2,521. This year's total is therefore 24 less than for last term.

Rohm & Haas Workers Donate Blood To Red Cross

The mobile blood plasma unit of the American Red Cross visited another local industrial plant yesterday and 22 employees of the Rohm & Haas Chemical Company donated blood for use in civilian disasters and for the military medical service.

Arriving at 3:30 p. m. the Red Cross squad of a doctor, two nurses, and a technician secured the donations of all the volunteers on one shift at the plant. Another visit is planned to accommodate donors on the other two shifts.

More volunteers are needed to donate blood, both at the Rohm & Haas plant and elsewhere. The donation process requires less than a half-hour to complete, and does not interfere with the donor's daily routine.

The blood donated is "banked" by the recently-developed plasma process (plasma is the clear liquid portion of the blood without the red corpuscles). Dried or frozen, blood so prepared can be kept for long periods of time and can be used without typing. The ambulance in which the blood donation unit of the Red Cross travels is equipped with a refrigerator to transport the blood to Philadelphia where it is processed.

CARDS TOMORROW

The chairman of the card party scheduled for tomorrow evening is Mrs. John Ennis. The affair will be held in the K. of C. home at 8:30, sponsored by Catholic Daughters of America. Several fine prizes have been secured.

No Hooks Needed

(By "The Stroller")

We've heard of salmon runs making it possible in some years and in some places for people to pick members of the finny tribe out of streams with their hands, when the fish were in great numbers.

But it has taken a drought to make this type of fishing possible in the canal here.

So low has the water become that children wading in are able to catch in their hands bass, carp, blue-gills, perch, cat-fish, and other types of fish in which the canal abounds.

The rooms have been thoroughly washed and disinfected and the pupils will report at the usual time on Monday morning.

Edward S. Landreth Flies To The U. S. From Brazil

Edward S. Landreth, a former resident of Bristol, arrived here from Brazil, S. A., last evening, following a five-day flight by plane from Rio de Janeiro to New York.

Mr. Landreth, who came to the United States on business with two other representatives of the drug firm with which he is affiliated in South America, expects to remain in this country about two weeks, spending most of the time in New York City on business. He is also visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Phillips Landreth, of Pine Grove.

The former Bristolian, who resides in San Paulo, Brazil, made the journey with his two companions by plane during daylight hours, there being no beacons for use in night flying in South America. Overnight stops were made. The trio will also make the return trip by air.

Leonard Jones, son of Chief of Police Linford J. Jones and Mrs. Jones, Jefferson avenue, is a patient in Abington Hospital, under observation.

Teachers Hear Talk Given By Head of State Schools

the second responsibility is that teachers will have the responsibility of participating in activities superimposed and riding along with their regular fields such as vocational training and civilian defense.

"The three major questions so far as the Pennsylvania schools and teachers are concerned are first, 'What are we trying to defend?' second, 'Whose responsibility is it to defend that which we are defending?' and third, 'How shall those who have the responsibility go about it?'"

The distinguished head of the schools in the state said that in every system of government the social patterns link together the educational system and governmental ideal.

"The educational pattern is geared into the pattern of the governmental philosophy, and it is beside the point or public school teachers to justify the position their work bears in relation to the government and not be willing to face some of the problems."

"You teachers may ask yourselves 'Why am I a teacher?' 'Why am I doing it this way?' Basically, you feel there is something about your government that you like and in our democratic form of government one form stands forth above all other systems, and that is that democracy holds the ideal of developmental opportunities to the extent of capacity for all individuals."

Dr. Haas explained that he didn't say anything about being "born equal" or everyone having an "equal opportunity."

"You teachers are defending a philosophy of government and democracy means that there is an opportunity to participate in the kind of government I like."

Dr. Haas explained that in America there are many people who believe that human beings are able to govern themselves and have organized a system of education which will train and teach those human beings how to better govern themselves.

"The three classes in this National Emergency situation are: first, those who are complacent and say 'It can't happen here'; second, the philosophy of those who despair and feel that the world is going to the dogs and the best thing is to have a good time before the dogs get the world; and third, the optimists."

Dr. Haas said there are two kinds of optimists: the kind of man who thinks optimism is a good substitute for intelligence, and secondly, the optimists who are optimists because their optimism is based on real thinking, and thinking from real facts.

Dr. Haas, who asked the teachers what they were going to do about the National Defense and Emergency situation, warned them they will be busy with their own professions and the added responsibilities.

"What would you teachers do now if the 1941 form of sabotage would drop a bomb on Doylestown today?" Dr. Haas asked. "The complacent would say 'That's silly, it can't happen here,' or would you be a real optimist?"

Philosophically Dr. Haas explained that education is a state program and that school boards are merely a group of trustees. "They represent the State as an employer and the basic fact is that public education in the United States is a state function and we must meet the changing times against that background."

Warning about any retrenchment plans or schemes with the heavier onslaught of emergency situations, Dr. Haas said the schools must be maintained and their standing kept up since they are one of the real bulwarks of democracy.

Dr. Haas, who said that Will Rogers once remarked that American history had three important phases: the passing of the Indians, the passing of the buck, and finally, the "passing-of-the-buck," warned about "teachers and schools passing the buck in these critical times."

Dr. Harold Benjamin, dean of the School of Education of the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, who served as a marine in the First World War and said he was stationed in Coblentz, Germany, when some of the American doughboys received their pay and took the lid off the German city, asserted that the discipline of the boys in the United States Army camps today is far superior to that of those soldiers.

"Don't let any one tell you that army morale today is low and that the discipline is bad because the soldiers were spoiled in new-fangled schools," said Dr. Benjamin.

Walter S. Miller, president of the County Board of School Directors, said there are three kinds of directors: first, those interested in education; second, the fillers-in; and third, the tax-watchers.

"The tax-watchers, the most fanatical group, are increasing," he said. Taking a pot-shot at the present tax system, President Miller said: "The tax system is running along on square wheels and will have to be revamped."

He scored the pressure brought by the tax-watchers who form adverse groups.

President Miller, who reiterated that the tenure law is most unpopular with school directors, said: "No such one-sided contracts exist anywhere as between teachers and school boards."

"Teacher tenure guarantees you almost a life-time job and yet you can go almost anytime you please without the school board having any hold on you. You have destroyed the relationship which exists between an employer and employee because of the unfairness of the contract."

"Most school directors feel that teachers as a group are underpaid."

SAVORY AND HOT

Something savory and hot is what the man of the house wants to eat on these chill fall days. And this casserole dish called Spaghetti with Baked Spanish Onions fills these requirements. The cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese which is used in the recipe is already prepared and has an unusual temptingness about its tangy flavor.

Spaghetti with Baked Spanish Onions

Prepare by boiling in salted water until just tender—

5 medium Spanish onions.

Cut in halves and season well with salt and pepper. Arrange in shallow baking dish—

1 large (24-oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce.

Arrange onion halves, cut sides up, close together on the spaghetti. Mix together—

1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs,

4 tablespoons butter, melted.

Place a spoonful on each onion half. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20 minutes. Grated Parmesan cheese may be substituted for the buttered crumbs. Serves five.

It is that extra touch that makes an inexpensive cut of meat into fare the family enjoys to the fullest. In the recipe below, lamb patties made from the meat of the shoulder are glazed with tart jelly for that dressy appearance and extra good flavor. If you like, make the patties from lamb breast meat and dress them up in the same way. You will find the recipe on page 10.

paties made from the meat of the but also that a director's first interest is to take care of the taxpayer."

Scoring the type of teacher who doesn't contribute to the life of the community, President Miller said the teacher and the public problem is often acute because "the parents don't know the teachers or anything about their work and that teacher-hermits don't help the situation one bit."

Hitting at the red-tape school board is subjected to, he added that it has gotten so that school directors function only to levy taxes.

County Superintendent Charles H. Boehm called the meeting to order and paid a tribute to Assistant County Superintendent A. C. Rutter, of Perkasie, who served as the presiding officer.

The Sellersville-Perkasie High School Band, under the direction of Andrew H. Dillman, music supervisor, presented a concert at the opening of the afternoon session. Dr. Haas praised the band.

Dr. C. Rosenberry, of the Department of Public Instruction, served as the song leader.

a patty that is firm and yet light in texture.

Lamburgers

Combine—
1 1/2 pounds lamb shoulder meat, ground twice
1 cup rice flakes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons beefsteak sauce
1/2 cup milk.

Mix well and shape in six patties.

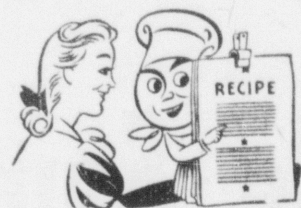

Melt in skillet—

3 tablespoons butter.

Brown the patties in it, then place on top of each patty—

1 tablespoon crab apple or currant jelly.

Cover and cook over low heat for 15 to 20 minutes, turning the patties several times while cooking. Serves six.

Early fall is the time to collect recipes to use for the winter entertaining season. Then you don't have to frantically hunt for something new and different when a party is almost upon you. An excellent one for your collection is Cubed Ham in Mushroom Sauce (recipe below). It makes a delicious supper or luncheon dish in a matter of minutes without the confusion of measuring a bit of spice or a dash of seasoning, since prepared cream of mushroom soup makes the creamy sauce. Serve this delightful creamed dish in bread boats. Prepare them by hollowing out hard rolls, then buttering and toasting.

Cubed Ham in Mushroom Sauce

Prepare—

2 cups cubes of cold cooked ham.

Brown in—

1 tablespoon fat.

Sprinkle over meat—

2 tablespoons flour.

Stir well to combine with meat, then pour in—

1 medium can (2 cups) cream of mushroom soup.

Stir until thickened. Serve hot over toast or bread boats. Garnish with sprigs of parsley. Serves four.

changes the situation. They have all said the same things before.

THE deduction that no change will occur is strengthened by two recent happenings in which Mrs. Roosevelt has figured. One is her own broadcast, the sponsors of which are South American coffee growers, and for which, incidentally, she receives $1,500 for fifteen minutes (and not so incidentally, either). Last Sunday Mrs. Roosevelt gave her views on half a dozen different topics, including religious freedom in Russia and the high-cost of living. Concerning the latter, she declared that wages had not kept pace with the rise in living costs and then explained that Mr. Baruch's plan of a ceiling over wages was not designed to freeze wages absolutely, which is what he himself had said. The only possible interpretation of her own remarks was that she felt wages must go still higher in order to meet living costs. She did not, however, point out that further rises in wages make inevitable further elevation of the cost of living, which, in turn, would make necessary still another rise in wages, and in turn again, that would force living costs still higher. In brief, there would be created the "vicious spiral" against which every economist warns and which nullifies any rise in wages no matter how high.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

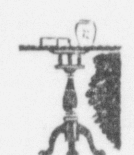

In this time of rising prices, real sales are the most exciting events on the shopping calendar. When a reliable great shop carries over its "name week" sale, that's news. Read and run!

Buy your new winter coat now for two canny reasons—to save from $15 to $20 and to have a wide choice of styles, fabrics, and furs. It is in Snellenburg's 2nd fl. Coat Department that there is this definite saving on prices, in honor of "Snellenburg Week," ending but including this coming Saturday. Therefore, I believe, these same splendid coats will very likely return to the higher prices. Abundantly furred, the coats may be had trimmed with dyed Jap mink, tipped skunk, red fox, London dyed squirrel, silverstone dyed fox, Persian, etc.

I must tell you, too, about this same shop's $14 coats to be found in the 2nd fl. Junior and Misses' Coat Dept. Honors! Reduced price, of course. Big, bold blanket plaids or solid football colors. Different models. Some single-breasted with fitted backs, the front models, soft shoulders, and some models with double-breasted cut, half belts, bell sleeves, slashed pockets, etc. The most desired colors. Sizes come 12 to 20 and 9 to 11.

Anxious to give a really charming wedding present at reasonable cost? What about an authentic style 18th century occasional table? Nothing could be nicer. At the very special price of $9.35, a delightfully varied group of these small tables can be purchased on Snellenburg's 5th floor. They are sturdy made of mahogany and walnut veneers combined with hard American gumwood. Make your choice among pierce lamp tables, drop-leaf end tables, drums, etc., etc. Moreover, the pretty things are made practical by treatment for resistance against staining.

Now is the time to prepare against colds from chilling. What better insurance than a snug robe in the car? With such articles soaring in price, it would be a shame to pass up the "Snellenburg Week" gain of a $5 robe for only $3.30—now, wouldn't it? These robes can be used for so many other purposes, too—games, crabs, couch sleeping, cot extras, and the like. These Snellenburg robes are large. They come in colorful plaids, and are of good quality. Harmonize them with car upholstery (Auto Supplies, 3rd fl.), at 37c!

Swirl percale sheets, my dears—at $1.24 instead of $1.89 to $2.69. All because of trifling irregularities that do not affect wearing qualities. Sizes 72x99 and 72x108. Sizes 81x99 and 81x108 can be had for $1.34. This 2nd fl. Bed Muslins Dept. at Snellenburg's is one to keep an eye on. Starting values can often be had for very little, especially in small groups where there are not enough quantities to risk mentioning them. Seek them out whenever in this good store!

"Cultured" pearls—the ones the oysters make to order for us. To be had for so very little, compared with the hardly more precious ones, at Snellenburg's 1st fl. pearl counter. This "Snellenburg Week," these cultured pearls in graduated single strands are specially priced at $3.89, although they match in appearance strings a hundred times their value. Solid gold filigree clasps, too. Grand for gifting bridesmaids or buying in advance for Christmas. You know, when an oyster can't get rid of a foreign substance in its shell it makes a pearl of it.

Do buy the piano you've been wishing for for years. Music made by one's own fingers or the fingers of someone you love can work miracles in the home and its people. One wise psychiatrist has said truly—"Music is medicine—even though a person can play but one tune." And there is always room for a piano these days. Spinets have solved the space problem, and now "Snellenburg Week" solves the financial problem with a fine Marvin spinet model for $175 instead of $195. Marvins are made to rigid specifications and the cabinets are charming.

Sew your own—do. Buy materials that flatter. Cut lines which would be too costly for your purse if ready-made. Have more dresses than you've ever been able to afford. Start making over the simplest patterns, and then one a bit harder, then harder, then something really professional. Your skill will ultimately surprise yourself. Take dressmaking lessons if necessary. The schools are going in for that sort of thing this winter. Select some patterns and buy materials ahead of time while they're so amazingly cheap during "Snellenburg Week." The store's Wash Goods Dept. (2nd fl.) has grand rayons, 69c to $1 values—at 37c!

Mrs. Roosevelt which increases belief that no effort to stabilize wages and thus keep prices down will be made, was announcement of the testimonial dinner to be given her in New York on November 9. At this dinner Mr. Philip Murray, of the CIO, and Mr. William Green, of the AFL, both of whom are violently against any form of wage regulation, will speak in eulogy of Mrs. Roosevelt, testifying to the great help she has been to the cause of organized labor. Mr. David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, declared the dinner would not only serve as a tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt, but also as an opportunity for labor "to express appreciation and to pay tribute to our President for the gains recorded by labor during his Administration and for his great contribution to the cause of all humanity." There is not likely to be any mention at the dinner of the millions of man days lost on defense work through strikes in the past eight months. Nor is it likely anyone will mention that defense strikes exist while the dinner is in progress.

CONSIDERING both Mrs. Roosevelt's advocacy of higher wages and this testimonial dinner, in which the labor leaders of both factions will join in tribute to the President and herself, not many think that, either before or after that affair, the Administration will take a stand for the wage regulation to which all these labor leaders are intensely and bitterly hostile. Realistic persons no longer look for a firm grappling with the price-control problems. Mostly, they feel that all that can be expected is an ineffectual piece-meal effort by the highly publicized Mr. Henderson in which labor will be treated as a favored class. From the disastrous result of this policy, however, labor will by no means be exempt. Of course, it is possible that Congress may be galvanized into intelligent action in this vital matter but, without Presidential support, it seems unlikely.

Almighty God, whose presence guides the lives of all those who call upon Thee, in the midst of all the uncertainties among which we must make our way, hold us by the hand and keep us in Thy paths. Help us to put down that desire we so frequently find taking possession of us, to make explorations here and there, beyond the boundaries Thou hast marked off, and to be content to follow Thee in paths that are safe. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

New Veal Birds Offer Variety

Veal birds, slices of veal wrapped around bread stuffing, are a favorite dish in many households and very delicious they are, too. This is an easy and very tempting way to prepare veal.

A tasty variation of this popular dish is suggested by Luez S. Willson, home economist. It calls for the use of liver sausage in the stuffing. This is an unusual blend of flavors which you'll find most appetizing. It is a good way of adding liver, so rich in that food essential, iron, to the diet.

Veal-Liver Sausage Rolls

1½ pounds veal cutlets
½ pound liver sausage
1 egg
6 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons chopped onion
¾ cup dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt

¼ cup flour

3 tablespoons lard

Have veal slices cut one-fourth inch thick. Remove fat and bone. Cut into six uniform pieces. Mash liver sausage and add egg, milk, parsley, onion and crumbs. Place on pieces of veal. Roll and tie or fasten with skewers. Mix seasonings with flour and dredge rolls. Brown in hot lard. Add water. Cover and simmer until tender or bake in moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for 1½ hours. Serve with gravy.

Navy, "Dive Bomber," which opened last night at the Grand, is the most gloriously exciting air drama the screen has yet given us.

The super-pilots who fly Uncle Sam's super-planes, the dive bombers, are the heroes of this epic of the skyways, and theirs is a thrill-a-second drama. The tremendously high altitude, the terrific rate of speed at which they descend upon their targets, makes dive-bombing the most hazardous type of flying.

Bensalem Hopes for First Win
Over Newtown
Today

LOCALS ARE CONFIDENT

Morrisville Eleven Girds For
One of Its Stiffest
Assignments

By Jack Gill

Bristol High School's improved grid aggregation faces Langhorne in a conference game at Langhorne Saturday afternoon. The minions of Coach Clarence Bartholomew will be seeking their second league win in as many starts. Bensalem hits the road to Newtown to face Walt Eaton's Blue eleven today and Morrisville again sandpines around in Jersey circles Saturday at Burlington.

Bristol, Bensalem and Burlington, rule as favorites, although the closest decision is expected to be rendered in the Burlington-Morrisville engagement. The Bunnies are expected to run roughshod over an extremely weak Redskin tribe. Bensalem, with all that weight, is about due to click at Newtown.

No startling changes have been announced by coaches. Johnny Hoffman, tall tactician of the Morrisville forces, might work end Snatcher Phillips in as a back against Al Rundle's Burlington crew. Evidently long John is taking a cue from Bartholomew, who transformed Arnold Capriotti into a beauty.

Bristol's line looks like the business after a shoddy showing against Catholic. Dutch Vandegrift did fine work backing up in the Bensalem affair, and Ciafella, Herman and Vasey are experienced performers. Captain Chick Di Angelo, who was overshadowed only in scoring by his mate, Capriotti, ought to go good on the level Langhorne terrain. The Redskins, woefully weak on pass defense, will see more than one aerial from either Di Angelo or "Cap."

Langhorne, beaten 18 to 7 by Fallsington, may not be exactly that bad. It was the first football game for many of the Playwickians, and flaws due to inexperience were apparent. The line, led by big Ed Sealey, Bill Knapp, Christy and Slater, should be an improved unit and the backs, paced by hard trying Norman Knox, Lou Spatticino, Ken Clark and Bill Cloak lacks punch because of greenness.

But Langhorne nearly always puts up a fighting ball game. Throughout this traditional thirteen year series, Bristol has ever encountered trouble from the pesky Indians. One score victories have been many. The Beckmen lapsed but once when they allowed Di Midio, Peterpaal and Co. to run rampant in a 66 to 0 verdict. The very next year Langhorne stunned the Cards with a 6 to 0 triumph. Outside of that one win, Langhorne has only a 0-0 tie to show for their unrestrained efforts.

Overconfidence is always the dread of Bristol coaches in games such as these. Feeling superior over the joyous 25 to 0 romp tallied over Bensalem, Bristol may waltz into the coming fray and end up jitterbugging late in the final quarter.

Bensalem, under pressure for the first time this year, really must win at Newtown. The "Little Four" trophy rides on the outcome of the Owls games with Langhorne and Fallsington after this shot. The Blue and Grey are defending little school champs.

For the first time in four years Bensalem will not have slippery, lithe, likeable and jolting Al Driver to watch. The one colored star, who never seemed to hurt his frail self, nearly drove Bensalem crazy each year in a pitch-catch tussle with his friend, Clarence Pidecek, who will be in there throwing once again for Newtown.

Weatherhold hopes his men start moving. Big, fast and good in passing and punting, the Owls certainly need a little more fire during the game. It's a vital part of a winning ball club. Maybe they'll ignite and blow up today.

Burlington, unbeaten last fall with Makaka and Ghaul, has already been beaten this season without them. That makes Saturday's tussle all the more difficult for Morrisville. Rundle will have his men charging like wildcats up on that line. The Bulldogs, after a week's rest following their 27 to 7 loss at the hands of Trenton, are set to loosen Wallace, Wilcox and perhaps Snatcher Phillips in an offensive drive. These boys are all fast, but it will be won up front on the line.

Fallsington, after a week's layoff, pits its scrappy squad against the Trenton Sophomores in a Friday fracas.

Criticism Renewed of British War Policy

London, Oct. 10—Renewed criticism of British war policy flared up in London today as a result of grim developments in Russia, and pressure increased on the government for all-out aid to the embattled Soviets.

As the criticism assumed ever-growing proportions, some predictions were made that the House of Commons soon may hold an "inquest" which might lead to demands for a shake-up in Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet.

Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite member who already has had many tilts with Churchill, served notice he will ask the Prime Minister for a full statement regarding developments on the eastern front.

Supporters of Churchill branded the new wave of criticism as unfair and said the Government simply has followed the advice of its service chiefs, who have advised against a British continental invasion or offensive at the present.

Most competent opinion is that a cabinet shake-up will be confined to a long-pending injection of new blood into less important posts, rather than a major cabinet reshuffle.

Nazi Gains Made at Terrific Cost

Moscow, Oct. 10—New setbacks to Russian troops in the Bryansk area were admitted in Moscow today although smashing Soviet air attacks were claimed as the Red armies fought to stem the Nazi drive against Moscow.

Hurling three tank divisions, two motorized infantry divisions and three regular infantry divisions against the Russian positions at Bryansk, the Germans succeeded in crumpling the Red defenses at a number of places, the Army newspaper Red Star admitted.

The Nazi gains, however, were made only at terrific cost to themselves, the paper said.

Claim Hitler's Legions Sweep Forward

Berlin, Oct. 10—Following up their latest sweeping victories in the drive against Moscow, German authorities said today, Chancellor Hitler's legions are sweeping forward on the entire eastern front "like a seven-day flood."

Military spokesmen in Berlin said the German forces are steadily capturing important key points and "driving a spearhead into the heart of the dying Red empire."

They declared the German-wrought breach on the central front is 500 kilometers—about 500 miles—wide.

Warns Against U. S. All-Out Aid To Russia

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 10—A warning that American all-out aid to Russia may result in "such a totality of death and destruction as almost inevitably will crush the earth" was given the 61st annual A. F. of L. convention today by the most Rev. Gerald Shaughnessy, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Seattle.

Bishop Shaughnessy, today's principal speaker at the meeting, took cognizance of the fact that the convention earlier this week received a recommendation from the AFL executive council that it advocate such aid—with the proviso that "Soviet Russia and the United States are not friends and never could be friends."

To Have Milk Price Hearing

Harrisburg, Oct. 10—The milk control commission today fixed Oct. 15 for a general price hearing at Philadelphia "to deal with milk prices to producers and consumers and any changes that may be deemed advisable."

Several weeks ago the commission boosted the doorstep price from 12 cents to 13 cents and indicated that the level would be changed as prices increased.

"Since that time," the Commission stated, "price trends of labor, feed and materials of both producers and dealers have continued upward to such an extent that further consideration of the question seems necessary."
